MICROSOFT CERTIFIED HEADSETS

New low cost Unified Communications devices:

The quality of Plantronics headsets at a low price point brings new options to IT departments planning large Unified Communications deployments. These wideband headsets come with Microsoft Office Communicator 2007 certification for end-to-end support.

.Audio 615M Headset System

Optimized for clear, economical, unified communications

Office professionals can now take advantage of an economical headset solution that features high-quality audio and a single, unified interface to control a variety of communication features. Plantronics has optimized the .Audio 615M headset for Microsoft Office® Communicator 2007, a software-based solution that streamlines workloads by consolidating various technologies—voice, video, messaging, and collaboration tools—into a single interface. Combining Plantronics' renowned audio clarity with a comfortable design, the corded .Audio 615M delivers:

- Unified Communications. Optimized for Microsoft Office® Communicator 2007
- High quality audio. Improves speech clarity—resulting in decreased errors and listener fatigue—through USB-enhanced, wideband digital audio.
- Clear conversations. Customers benefit from the noise-canceling microphone and swiveling, QuickAdjust™ boom, which together provide superior sound management.
- Flexible design. Made to be rapidly slipped on and off by occasional wearers, the headset's monaural design is also ideal for users who want to keep one ear open to workplace surroundings.
- Comfortable usability. Features a soft, swivel-mounted ear cushion that ensures hours of comfortable conversations.
