HEADSET COMFORT AND CLEANLINESS SERVICE

How important is the cleanliness and comfort of your team’s headsets? We’re betting it’s more crucial than ever before. And that’s why we provide a service that puts their needs first. This service gives the end user clean, well-maintained, and high-functioning equipment they need to get the job done. Our Headset Comfort and Cleanliness Service keeps headsets in top condition—not only for health and safety initiatives, but also to ensure you’re getting the most out of your investment.

- Keep microphones, earpads and other replaceable parts optimized
- Test all headsets to make sure they are working properly
- Clean all headsets to meet health and safety initiatives
- Headsets are placed in a sealed bag once cleaned, so no one touches them except the headset user
- Service is provided either onsite or remotely

Onsite Service: Our technicians will come to you. They will examine, clean, test and recondition headsets on the spot. They will also be available to answer end users’ questions while onsite, to support best practices.

Remote Service: Ship used headsets to Poly for our technicians to examine, clean, test, and recondition. Once the service is completed we will return them to you ready for distribution to your team.
