5 MOVES TO SUCCEED IN THE WORKFORCE TRANSFORMATION GAME

(And impress business leaders, too)

Employees are done with five days of commuting and cubicles. At Poly, we can help you empower your teams to be their most productive—no matter where they work—and set up your organization to thrive in the new normal.

1

Know your work personas

Employees in call centers, branch staff, and regional managers all have different needs. How do they like to work? Who travels frequently? What do they need to do their job well? In today's hybrid work environment, things have changed. At Poly, we know what employees need—and we'll fill you in.

2

Provide tools for success

Transactions have moved outside of branches. No matter where they're working, employees need audio and video devices that let them maintain connections with customers that are personal, and also professional. That's where Poly comes in, with the latest, greatest headsets, phones, and video bars that help teams sound incredible and look even better.

Conquer every platform

Employees are meeting customers where they're at—and they need to serve those customers in ways that work seamlessly across platforms. Poly offers a completely flexible, omnichannel-compliant solution, with end-to-end encryption.

4

Set up centralized control

Gain superhuman visibility into workspaces across your entire organization with Poly, using cloud-based software that'll scale with you. Then manage your entire voice, video, and headset estate at your fingertips. And with Poly, you also get a support team that frees up your IT.

5

Demonstrate ROI

Buying software and hardware alone doesn't deliver better outcomes. It's about doing it smarter: Investing in technology that'll reduce cost over time. Finding ways to help teams be more productive while delivering extraordinary customer experiences.

SCORE!

Help teams look, hear, and sound their best

Poly is the only full solution provider that's ecosystem agnostic and compatible with any platform. We can partner with you to create premium and harmonized experiences for any workspace—unlocking time savings by centralizing your monitoring and troubleshooting, and providing software updates.
